

A circle is a figure formed by a closed curve with all points equal distance from the center with no straight sides and no corners.

