

Hint

The first thing you need to think about is how many equal sections are on the number line. Based on that information, how much does each tick mark on the line represent? Is point A on a tick mark? How will you determine the value of point A?

