Bar graph is a graphical representation to organize data that uses solid bars that do not touch each other to show the frequency (number of times) that each category occurs.