Hint

Students will need to compare these four amounts in order to determine where to place them on the number line. They will also be using their knowledge of rational numbers to do so because they will be incorporating decimal and fractional parts. In order to do this effectively, students would need to choose whether they will convert fractional parts into decimals or decimals into fractional parts.