Hint

- Students will need to decompose the parallelogram, and then move the triangle to the other side to create a rectangle.
- Once students have created the rectangle, they can solve using the formula of multiplying base x height (or length x width).